Dear Mr. Gilmer,

Thank you for your inquiry to Remington Country. Trigger and safety components for the Model 700 are factory restricted. These may only be installed at the Remington factory. You may send you firearm in to us for repair, by following the instructions found HERE .

I bought a used 700 and the safety lever is broken off. Can I buy that part from you? I am not a gunsmith, but I am a competent machinist and have taken apart and polished and adjusted many 700 triggers. I also need a spring for a 700 trigger. It is the one that pushes the sear up to engage the firing pin. Can you sell me it by mail?
I would give you part #s, but the schematic for the 700's on this web sit are pretty vague. That is they do not show the trigger assembly exploded view. Thanks in advance for your reply.
