

I inherited a Remington 660, .308 winchester. After doing some background sea...

Discussion Thread

Response (Laura)

8/23/2002 3:24:46 PM

Dear Mr. Smith,

Thank you for your inquiry. We have had a recall on some Model 660 rifles. You can look at the Safety Modification information through the front page of our website or call us at 1-800-243-9700 M-F 9-5 EST to see if your firearm has been included in this recall. The following Remington Repair Centers can assist you with this:

Gene's Gunsmithing
Grp 326, RR3, Box 34
Selkirk, Manitoba R1A 2A8
204-757-4413
204-757-4728 Fax

Ernie's Gun Shop
1031 Marion Street
Winnipeg, Manitoba R2J 0L1
204-233-1928
204-233-5243 Fax

Customer (Sean Smith)

8/23/2002 12:40:48 AM

I inherited a Remington 660, .308 winchester. After doing some background searching on the net, I found some literature that indicated that there could be a potential problem with the safety, specifically the gun accidentally firing when the safety is switched off after the trigger has been played with. Is this literature correct and if so can I e-mail you the serial number from the gun for confirmation that Remington repaired the problem.

Second if Remigton has not corrected the recall item, how can I go about getting the issue fixed. I live in Canada and I understand it can be quite difficult to ship a gun to the US.

Thank you in advance for your reply. I look forward to your reply in the near future.