

bolts for a rifle

Discussion Thread

Response (Jessica)
Dear Bob,

3/3/2004 12:08:46 PM

Thank you for your inquiry. The bolts are not sold separately, the firearm must be shipped into to have one installed. A ball park figure for a new bolt is approx. $175.00.

Please click on the link below for information on the modification program that is being offered for the older Model 700:

http://www.remington.com/Safety_Modification_Program/remington_safety.htm

Customer (Bob Ward)

3/2/2004 9:33:37 PM

I have a chance at buying a Remington 700 ADL in the 7mm Remington magnum, synthetic stock but its missing the bolt. How much would a new bolt for this rifle cost me?

Thank you
Bob

PS

Another question, I have an older Remington 700 BDL in the 7mm Rem Magnum caliber, wood stock, that when you have the safety on you can't open the bolt. Is there a recall on these rifles.