Dear Mr. Coe,

Thank you for contacting Remington Country. Your Model 721 was produced in 1950. Your firearm has not been involved in a recall. Your rifle was originally installed with a bolt-lock, which means you have to put the safety switch on fire before you can open the bolt. We are offering a conversion at a special price if you would like your firearm converted, so that you can open the bolt at anytime with the safety on safe. To view more details regarding this modification, go to:

http://www.remington.com/Safety_Modification_Program/remington_safety.htm

The firearm should be inspected before use after the situation you described. If in the US, we recommend taking/shipping the firearm to one of the following Remington Premier Repair Centers for inspection.

I have a remington model 721 270 cal. while hunting, I have to unload the rifle by ejecting the shells. The last time I used it, it accidentally fired while unloading. Needless to say this scared the hell out of us. I took it to a gunsmith and he said there was a safty recall on this rifle. The sn. is 140938 what info can you give me on this?
