If you get a call from a consumer that wants to have conversion done and our RARC has told them they don't know anything... please read Lyle's response below.

I stand corrected, we have not received anything definite for legal yet. So no the paperwork has not been sent out.

I just had a consumer call in & wanted to have the conversion done on his Model 700 from bolt-lock style to non bolt-lock style. He was told by Jack First, Inc. that they didn't know anything about a conversion. Did they get the info about that?

Thanks,
