

MODEL SEVEN™

COMPACT RIFLES

HANDLES LIKE A SPORTSCAR, HITS LIKE A FREIGHT TRAIN.

Big impacts are what the Model Seven™ does best, and a new addition to the line is sure to make one in 2007. Introducing the Model Seven XCR Camo, the most rugged and corrosion-resistant model in the line. With a precision-balanced 20" barrel and receiver that is 1/2" shorter than a Model 700 short-action receiver and a weight of just 6 1/2 lbs. (standard calibers), it's still the ultimate dense-cover compact rifle. But now, foul weather is no match either thanks to the armor-tough protection of TriNyte® Corrosion Control. It's just like the Model 700™ XCR – super-strong, accurate out of the box, and the epitome of rugged endurance – but in a more compact, swift-handling package.

All Model Seven calibers, including magnum, are available in CDL™ versions. They have clean, satin-blued barrels (except 350 Remington® Mag; 20" magnum contour barrel with sights); classically styled, American walnut CDL stocks; and R3® recoil pads with LimbSaver® technology.

When you match this quick-handling short-action rifle with some of the hardest-hitting calibers known to big game – Remington Short Action Ultra Mag and WSM cartridges – you need a little longer barrel. Model Seven rifles in these calibers feature a 22" magnum contour barrel.

We also offer the Model Seven Youth, which is available in four calibers and features a 1" shorter stock and all the great standard features of the Model Seven.
